

Water retention by soils and biochars

There is additional water located in the biochar pores, none in soil particles